

FEMALE VAGABONDS ADMIT MURDER OF FARMER

FAIR AND HORSE SHOW HERE WILL BREAK RECORDS

Entries Largest Since Enterprise was Established in Dixon

The 1938 Lee County Fair and Horse Show, which opened at the Dixon Municipal Airport this afternoon, is the largest since the organization was started here. Every available foot of stable space was filled at noon today and concessions occupied all of the space allotted for this purpose. Ideal weather prevailed for the opening of the three day show which will continue through Sunday.

Patrons of the fair will be entertained by the finest horses being shown in the central west. One entrant, who arrived at noon today, had cancelled an engagement to exhibit his stable at the Wisconsin state fair at Milwaukee to come to Dixon. Several entries from the Helendale farm north of Virgil, the A. B. Cameron stables at Morton Grove and George Claybaugh of Chicago, arrived early this morning. The latter will exhibit "Charming Cavalier," which has been shown in several of the largest shows in the country, and will appear in the five gaited class. Five head of blue ribbon winners were on hand from the Cameron stables. These were but a few of the outstanding stables represented.

The largest entry list since the horse shows started in Dixon, was housed in the draft horse class, which indicates an increased interest among farmers of Lee and adjoining counties in this department.

Pulling Contest

The pulling contest, which is in charge of Gilbert Finch, has the largest field of entries since this feature was introduced in the Horse Show three years ago. This year attributed largely to the fact that the state record was broken at the Dixon show last year when M. B. Summers of New Berlin, with a 10-year-old black gelding and a 9-year-old bay gelding, weighing together, 2,850 pounds, lifted 2,875 pounds 27 1/2 feet. This record was established Aug. 27 of last year which stands in Illinois for teams lighter than 3,000 pounds. It is also a record for percentage of the team's weight lifted, 101 per cent.

Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the opening of the daylight fair program, all of the prize winning livestock will be paraded in the ring. The parade will be repeated at the Saturday evening show.

The fair association has taken into consideration the comfort of the public in providing every convenience possible. The grand stand this year is located at the north side of the field and is covered with canvas. A hospital tent has been set up on the grounds with registered nurses and Boy Scouts in attendance. Several state highway police will be on duty for the three days directing the heavy traffic.

Pictured above is the reward for waiting yesterday morning for the second span of the old Galena Avenue bridge to be demolished by the Shappert Engineering company as they make way to construct the new streamlined bridge over Rock river. Final preparations were completed about 8 o'clock. After cutting the beam on the southern right hand corner, the crane pulled out the support—and this is what happened.

This is the way the second span looked after it had settled to the river bottom and before the work of cutting it was started. Night crews continued to work last night and by morning all traces of the debris had disappeared.

Name Cleared

Hampton, N. H., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Eunice "Goody" Cole could rest in peace today; she had been cleared of a conviction in 1856 as a witch.

Hampton selectmen, celebrating the town's tercentenary, yesterday burned copies of all papers pertaining to her imprisonment. A town meeting "restored" Goody's citizenship last March.

The exonerated ceremony was attended by Mrs. Harry Houdini, widow of the magician, who declared "blasting of witchcraft is so important that I have traveled 3,000 miles (from Los Angeles) to be present."

Advices Against a Political Fund from WPA Workers' Gifts

Washington, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex.) of the senate campaign expenditures committee advised David Lasser, president of the Workers Alliance, today not to carry out his plans to raise a $50,000 political fund from donations made largely by WPA workers.

Citing a section of the criminal code defining "principals" the chairman said it was his personal belief that Lasser and the alliance would be violating the law if the alliance solicited funds from relief workers.

The section defines "principal" as "whoever directly commits any acts constituting an offense defined in any law of the United States or aids, abets, counsels, commands, induces or procures its commission." Sheppard previously pointed out that the criminal code prohibits solicitation of political contributions from federal employees by any person himself receiving federal compensation and prohibits candidates from receiving any benefits from funds so collected.

Ogle Co. Man and Wife Victims Double Accident Coming to Dixon

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Winterton, who reside on a farm three miles northwest of Rochelle, were victims of a double automobile crash yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock on route 330, three miles west of Rochelle, while enroute to Dixon. A truck damaged the Winterton car in a collision and as Mr. Winterton stepped from his machine to write down the license number of the truck, a car driven by Glen Bales of Steward passed the scene. Bales' car was reported to have struck Mr. Winterton, knocking him down, and then to have sped away from the scene of the accident. Frank Barickman of Rochelle witnessed the accident, pursued the Bales car, and succeeded in stopping the machine and informing the driver that he had struck Winterton. Barickman told state police that Bales turned his ma-

CAVE-IN TRAPS AND KILLS BOYS ON IOWA FARM

Hamburg, Iowa, Aug. 26.—(AP)—An inquest will be held tonight into the deaths of three small farm boys, killed near here yesterday when they were trapped in a deep gully by a cave-in, Coroner Ralph Lovelady said.

The victims were John Briggs, 9, and Robert Briggs, 6, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Briggs, and Olin Mullins, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mullins, on whose farm the tragedy occurred. A fourth youngster, Carl Mullins, 4, who was playing with the boys, escaped uninjured.

The four-year-old returned to his home a quarter of a mile away following the cave-in but at first said nothing about it. When both parents became alarmed over failure of the other youngsters to return for lunch and questioned him, he talked vaguely about falling dirt, then after some persuasion led them to the scene. The entire community responded to the call for help.

Searchers found the three bodies several hours later beneath a huge mound of loose dirt.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

Pontiac, Mich., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Add unusual accidents: Anne Auerick, 21, was kicked by a wooden horse.

The horse was on a merry-go-round and Miss Auerick stood too close to it while it was whirling.

Result of Theft

Chicago, Aug. 26.—(AP)—It took 19 years and a robbery before Mary Wronkiewicz of Philadelphia could locate her husband.

She read in a newspaper that the butcher shop of Joseph Wronkiewicz had been robbed in Chicago, and asked police to learn if the owner were her husband, who took his eldest son, Frank, and went west in 1919. She hasn't seen them since.

The police did some checking and found that her husband is the butcher and their son, now 22, works for him.

PRESIDENT AND FARLEY AGREE ON PROCEDURE

Postmaster-General Has Interview With His
Chief Today

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that he and James A. Farley "were in complete agreement as usual" during a political conference yesterday.

The president made this direct statement in response to questions at his press conference.

He and Farley were understood to have gone over the political situations in every state where the New Deal is an issue.

Farley reportedly urged the president to go personally into Maryland in an effort to defeat Senator Millard Tydings, an administration opponent seeking re-nomination.

The president did not comment on this, however, saying only that he had no engagements besides two already announced for patriotic observances in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Asked for comment on reports that the Workers Alliance, an organization of WPA workers, is seeking to raise a $50,000 campaign fund from WPA employees, the president gave reporters this reply.

"I very much hope that people on relief will not contribute any money for the purpose of aiding any party."

Approves Hopkins.

The president expressed approval of a statement by Harry Hopkins, the WPA administrator, regarding the raising of campaign funds from relief workers. Hopkins vigorously condemned the practice.

Roosevelt said that a proposal being discussed in California to give $50 weekly pensions to all persons over 50 can be described as a short cut to Utopia.

There was no word as to what Farley may have reported to the president regarding the political situations in Georgia and South Carolina, where administration opponents are seeking renomination to the senate.

Nothing was said either about the Idaho situation, where Senator James P. Pope, an administration supporter has been defeated for renomination and now is considering re-election as an independent.

Telephone Company Files Its Answer

Attorneys for the Dixon Home Telephone Company in its suit for $10,000 against Georgia Sill Worsley, have filed an answer to the complaint, in which the defendant claims to have settled all alleged shortages incurred while she served in the capacity as chief operator for the company. In the answer Mrs. Worsley states that she had turned over her residence property to the telephone company, thereby releasing her from any further obligation.

The company's answer sets forth that the company admitted receipt of the deed to the property, but that the firm had not agreed to relinquish claim to the sum Mrs. Worsley allegedly misappropriated. Attorneys for the plaintiff in answer to the defendant set forth that the residence is valued not to exceed $4,000 and that the defendant, prior to deeding the property, owed the company approximately $15,000.

The original complaint charged Mrs. Worsley of "padding" the company pay roll, over which she had jurisdiction while employed as chief operator.

DISPUTE CLOSES WAREHOUSES IN SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—(AP)—At least 79 warehouses, including all the wholesale grocery establishments in San Francisco, were closed today by a labor dispute involving a meandering freight car and a matter of principle.

Employers predicted suspension during the day of the wholesale liquor business, which would add about 20 more warehouses to the insubordinate list and involve an estimated total of 2,000 workers.

Further complicating the labor relations picture in San Francisco, scene of many of the nation's bitterest and longest strikes, was the threatened walkout of 7,000 clerks in 27 major department stores because of a collapse in negotiations for a new contract.

Employers yesterday closed 36 grocery warehouses ahead of the eventual arrival of a freight car, which for more than two weeks has been refused unloading by union warehousemen, who contend it was loaded by strikebreakers. Many warehouses in transbay Oakland also are involved.

The freight car, half-filled with school supplies from a struck E. W. Woolworth warehouse, has been shunted from building to buildings, where warehousemen have refused to handle the cargo. Employers have promptly discharged the men and closed the plants.

The matter of principle involved is an employer contention that the warehousemen must handle all cargo, regardless of origin.

Chick-in-Bottle Experiment Legal

Westminster, Md., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Police Magistrate Albert Mitten announced today he had found the Rev. Frank E. Willard innocent of cruelty to animals in conducting an experiment of raising a chicken to maturity inside a five-gallon glass jug.

Magistrate Mitten took the case under advisement Wednesday after the Maryland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals brought the charges and presented the testimony of physicians that the experiment was not a "healthy" one for the chicken.

Willard, who accidentally broke the jug yesterday, said his experiment was a scientific one and showed the chicken gained weight more rapidly than its mates outside the jar.

Hundreds of Twins Gather Today in Chicago for Annual Convention

Chicago, Aug. 26.—(AP)—It was okay to see double in Chicago today, for the 7th annual convention of the International Twins association was in session.

Twins were registered from many parts of the United States. The association's twin presidents, John P. and James F. Mitchell of Chicago, anticipated that attendance by Sunday—the big day—would be 2,500 pairs of twins and some triplets.

While the twins were sightseeing, parading, viewing in contests for the "twiniest twins" and the "untwiniest twins," Dr. H. H. Stransky of the University of Chicago was all set for a field day in studying twins—their height, weight, appearance.

BLAME GUARDS FOR DEATH OF FOUR CONVICTS

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A group of "tough" guards, whose duties Coroner Charles H. Hersch said included punishing unruly convicts, was blamed today for the Philadelphia county prison's deaths in the "Klondike"—a stuffy steam-heated isolation building.

He said deaths of four men Monday in the "Klondike," a 13 by 50 feet building heated by a long line of radiators, indicated that the building had been used intentionally by some of the guards as a "roaster" for disciplining prisoners.

He said his investigation indicated that a "higher up" also was responsible for the deaths.

It was this official, the coroner declared, who gave the orders to "turn on the heat" in punishment cells where he said the prisoners were "literally baked alive" after taking part in an organized revolt against a "monotonous" diet.

"We have definite information as to the identity of the higher up who was responsible for the incarceration, punishment and death of these men," Hersch said.

Although he declined to give names, the coroner said he had warrants for the arrest of "four to six guards and officials" and promised he would "break the case wide open."

Hersch said his information concerning the "higher up" was given by four guards during six hours of questioning last night.

He identified two of the guards as Francis Smith, 43, and Alfred W. Brough, 39, held in $2,500 bail each as material witnesses in the deaths.

Couple Floating Down Mississippi in Tiny Houseboat

St. Louis, Aug. 26.—(AP)—For a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Anderson of Oakland, Calif., decided to float down the Mississippi in a houseboat.

They built the boat, the Dixie Clipper, in Chicago, cast off July 20 on the Illinois river, entered the Mississippi at Grafton, Ill., early this week and today were tied up at St. Louis.

The tiny craft is only 18 by 7 feet. Anderson, a civilian employee of the war department in San Francisco, said it cost $75.

The Andersons hope to reach New Orleans in November.

EACH SAYS THE OTHER SHOT MT. ERIE, ILL., MAN

Victim Had Picked Them Up Hitch-Hiking and Entertained Them

Fairfield, Ill., Aug. 26.—(AP)—Two young women, vagabonds since they left their homes in the Tennessee mountain country July 5, have accused each other of the murder of Felix Shannon, 56-year-old Mount Erie, Ill., farmer, Sheriff Earnest Burkett said today.

The sheriff said Mrs. Jean Brooks, 23, of Elizabethton, Tenn., and Mrs. Beulah Honeycutt, 25, of Johnson City, Tenn., each declared the other had fired the shots which killed Shannon as he lay in bed.

Sheriff Burkett obtained oral statements from the women last night after he had taken them on a 100-mile trip around the countryside and several witnesses had identified them as having been seen near Shannon's home Monday, the day after he was slain.

During the trip, Mrs. Honeycutt, a buxom blonde, maintained an air of icy indifference, but Mrs. Brooks chattered amiably and twitted deputy sheriffs who had her in charge. Tall and slender, she has been described as a "red-head," but only a trace of red dye remains about her temples. Her hair is brown.

The women were taken to a tavern at Albion, Ill., where they were said to have spent several hours Monday afternoon. Until last night, they had denied ever having been in Illinois, but as they entered the tavern Mrs. Brooks greeted the bartender by his nickname.

Separated Women

Sheriff Burkett immediately separated the women, sending Mrs. Honeycutt to the Albion jail and taking Mrs. Brooks to his automobile to a quiet spot on the highway, where, he said, she casually related the circumstances of the slaying.

Shannon had picked up the women Sunday as he was driving his 8-year-old son, Carlyle, to Somerville, Ind., where the boy's mother resides. The Shannons were divorced last April.

"He let us out at Oakland City, Ind.," the sheriff quoted Mrs. Brooks as saying, "but he said he would stop for us on his way back. While we were there we met a friend of Beulah's who told us the old man was 'good pickings' and had a lot of money. Beulah's friend told us to go with the old man for a couple of days and come back and see him."

"Shannon met us and took us to his house. We sat around for three or four hours, drinking some homemade wine, and then I went to another room and laid down on a couch. Beulah stayed in the room with Shannon."

Dozing, Heard Shots

"I was dozing when I was startled by two shots. I ran into the other room and there was Beulah. She told me I'd have to shoot the old man, too, so I fired one shot, past his head and into the pillow. It didn't hit him."

Mrs. Honeycutt, told of her companion's statement, corroborated most of it, the sheriff said, but denied she fired the first shots. Both women are charged with murder in warrants obtained by Shannon's brother, Perry Shannon.

Both were identified by Shannon's son, Carlyle, the sheriff declared, as the two hitch-hikers his father picked up Sunday morning at Princeton, Ind., and left in a tavern while he took the boy to his mother's home at Somerville, Ind.

Burkett asserted this identification was clinched by two men who saw the women after the killing. He said Allen Bennett, a farmer, identified the women as the hitch-hikers he picked up early Monday, after the slaying, and drove to a tavern near Albion.

An attendant at the tavern—Roy's Place—declared the two prisoners were the women who stopped there and hired a boy to get their bus tickets to Princeton, Burkett alleged.

The sheriff disclosed the Shannon boy viewed the suspects at the jail yesterday and immediately said, "Sure, I've seen them before." The other two witnesses identified the women when the sheriff took the two over the alleged route of their flight, Burkett said.

Body Found in Bed

The nude body of Shannon, a well-to-do farmer, was found Monday on a bed at his home.

When informed of Jean's story, the sheriff declared, the Honeycutt woman denied the charges and named Jean as the one who fired the shots.

THE CLOUDED MOON

By MAX SALTMARSH

THE CHARACTERS

Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera.

Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend.

Ottile Willis, a beautiful American heiress.

Yesterday: The police (tipped off by Geiss) search the chalet, but Dunning saves me by taking the gun and Eve's letter. Later we tell Ottile that the murdered girl was her sister.

Chapter 17 Ottile's Story

"I knew it," Ottile said at last, in a flat, expressionless voice. "I've been sure for a long time that something terrible would happen to her. That's why I was scared to ask you. Tell me about it, please."

And so I told her the story of Eve Monet's death, though with certain reservations, for I did not speak of the letter, nor of the startling events of that morning and the part the ubiquitous Mr. Dunning had played in them. "I ought to warn you, though," I finished, "that the police here are convinced I had something to do with your sister's murder. You see, I can't give any reasonable explanation as to why she spoke to me."

She smiled at that, a pathetic little twist of the lips. "I could tell them the reason right off. There was a man that Melanie liked a lot—I guess, she would have married him, only he was killed in an aeroplane crash last year—and you're the living image of him. She was in trouble of some sort, and she felt she could trust you."

She clinched her hands. "You're expecting me to do some weeping," she added, "but I've been steeling myself to face something of this sort, these last three months, and I won't crack up—not yet awhile." She looked from one to the other of us. "You've been so frank, and so wonderfully kind, I owe you some sort of explanation, and the best way is to tell you just how it happened. My sister, for the past year or so, had been acting as secretary to my uncle, and last February she complained of feeling poorly and arranged to go and stay with a school friend in Santa Barbara. Six weeks passed, and her letters all said what a good time she was having and how she wasn't ready to come home yet awhile—and then one day I had a short note announcing her safe arrival. That was such a queer thing that I took a plane to California and when I arrived I found she had never been to Santa Barbara at all. She'd left a lot of letters with her friends to be mailed at regular intervals—only, you see, the first one had got sort of misplaced."

Hugo was eyeing her closely, and even as he called a hovering waiter and ordered champagne cocktails, his gaze never left her face. "And the sequel?" he prompted. "Finding that your sister was not at Santa Barbara, what did you do then?"

"Why," she said uncertainly, "the obvious thing. I flew back to New York, told my uncle what had happened, and we started to try and find her. In his position it was easy for him to make private inquiries, and we soon discovered that she had sailed for Plymouth two days after she left home. She was traveling under her own name, and we traced her as far as London, but there—" she spread out her hands—"the trail was lost. My uncle asked Scotland Yard to help, and when they drew a blank we appealed to the Surete, but the trouble was we couldn't risk a scandal, with my uncle's position. It all had to be done so secretly."

"Who Will Be Next?"

"And just why," said Hugo quietly, "did you expect a scandal?"

"It was natural, wasn't it?" she retorted. "A young girl, the niece of a man like my uncle, leaves home for no reason, comes to Europe, vanishes! If I had had my way, I'd have let rip—tried all ways to find her—radio, the papers, everything—but my uncle couldn't think only of himself."

He was putting through a long deal and he had to think of his business associates.

"And what did the Surete do?" I asked.

"The Surete," she answered, "after six months, reported that they had a clue. An unnamed girl, answering to my sister's description, had been seen at Deauville with a man called Vladimir Rakovsky, but they lost track of them both, and when they found him again in Italy, he was alone and denied ever having seen her. It was then that my uncle decided to send Pat O'Donnell across to look for her. We had known him a long time. He was working for an agency whose head was a friend of ours. He was kind and trustworthy."

She broke off and sipped thirstily at her cocktail. "I should have explained," she went on, "that last fall my uncle decided to come to the Riviera this summer for a short vacation. He had engaged rooms for us all at Cap d'Antibes, and we were to have sailed the first week in August; but then we suddenly got a cable from Pat, saying: 'On the trail. Come at once,' and we came a week earlier than we had meant. We got here two days ago and have been waiting news from him ever since. I can't think"—her lips suddenly trembled—"why he doesn't get in touch with us."

"Ottile," I said hurriedly, "you've taken a big knock—now you must face a lesser one. O'Donnell was the second man to leave the casino last night. He was shot down trying to catch your sister's murderer."

She gasped, and every atom of color drained from her face. "Pat too?" she said tonelessly. "First Melanie, then him. Who will be the next?"

"To answer that," said Hugo quietly, "it would be a considerable help if you would explain just why your sister left home and what you know of the three men she was associating with."

For an instant she was silent, obviously fighting for self-control; then she looked up at him calmly. "I don't understand you," she said. "I've told you how it happened. I can't do more."

Hugo stood up abruptly. "In that case," he said, and though his voice was level I could hear that he was very angry, "there's no more to be said. If you will tell me where you left your car, I will bring it around for you. You know," he added reflectively, "you are a very foolish young woman. You have no reason to distrust me. You know who I am, and I have kept very little back from you."

She caught him up quickly. "Then you have kept something back?"

"Certainly," he answered gravely. "And I am very glad for it, for I shall now use that something to bargain with you. Miss Willis, we are no disinterested spectators. We are both of us, my friend and I, as deeply involved as you are—because your sister came to him for help, and I because I knew O'Donnell. But if you refuse to put your cards on the table, I certainly see no reason why we should tell you the contents of your sister's letter."

Reunion

"Letter!" she cried. "What letter?"

"The letter she wrote to Lumsden here, shortly before her death, but which he only received yesterday afternoon. There are some queer items of information in it. She speaks of something 'they' propose to do to a mysterious 'he' on a certain date; she begs Lumsden to warn this unknown 'he' and persuade him to go back home." He broke off, eyeing her keenly. "Does that date interest you, Miss Willis, and the other details that I haven't mentioned?"

She stared up at him, wide-eyed, piteous. "I can't fight any longer," she said wildly. "I must see that letter. I'll tell you everything."

"But not just yet," I put in quickly. "From where I sat, I faced the promenade, and at that moment I had seen, threading its way through the pine boles towards us, a squat, podgy figure in white trousers and lavender shirt. 'Baron Stahl's on the way to break up the party.'"

She caught her breath at that but before she had time to speak, the fat man stood beside our table, a most unpleasant smile creasing his swarthy face. "Miss Willis!" he said, and bowed jerkily. "I am so happy that I find you! Your uncle, he is so disturbed! He looks everywhere for you—he not find you nowhere, he ask everyone in the hotel. You come back with me now—no?"

Hugo turned slowly and faced the other.

"Baron," he said softly, "you arrive in the nick of time. Miss Willis has just accepted an invitation to have tea with my sister at our villa in Cannes, and we were debating how to let her uncle know her whereabouts. If you will give him a message we shall be most grateful."

Ottile Willis was very silent as I drove her back to Cannes in her long, white Cadillac. Hugo kept the Hispano a comfortable twenty yards ahead of us, and from time to time I saw her eyes resting on the back of his head with a curious, reflective scrutiny.

"I asked you to take me along," she confided, "because I don't dare to be alone at the moment—Besides, I find that friend of yours a trifle terrifying. He's brilliant, of course, and terribly good-looking, but there's something relentless about him. When we're talking, I feel that I've got to be fighting the whole time to hold my own."

I, too, had the feeling that between her and Hugo a spiritual battle was imminent, the clash of two dominating personalities.

The gates of the Chalet stood open. As we crossed the hall the sound of voices drifted from the living-room and my heart sank, for that resonant bass could come from only one larynx that I knew, and I did not fancy that Hugo was at all in the mood for another encounter with Mr. Dunning.

Sure enough, as I opened the door, the gentleman himself came into view, reclining as before in Hugo's favorite chair, with Ada, primly upright on her tabouret, beside him.

"Well, Mr. Stern," he drawled, in his big, booming voice, "the wanderer has returned as you see."

He broke off, staring, and in that moment there was a sudden movement beside me.

"Cuthbert, have you heard what they've done to her?" and in a flash she was across the room and had thrown herself into his arms, sobbing as if her heart would break.

Pioneer Movie Star Leaves Her Fortune to Aid Needy Actors

New York, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Pearl White, pioneer thrill movie heroine who died August 4 in Paris, directed in a will filed in Surrogate court here that a considerable part of her worldly goods be given to aid needy actors.

Although no estimate was made as to the size of the estate, the actress who received a salary of $10,000 a week in the silent film days were understood to have left a substantial fortune.

There was some doubt, however, whether the terms of this will would be carried out. Charles Schwartz, attorney who filed the document, in which he was named executor, said he had heard rumors that Miss White had made a new will in Europe since this one, dated June 11, 1937, in New York, was signed.

In the will filed today, Miss White directed that her residuary estate be divided into 10 equal parts of which three would go to the Actors' Fund of America "or any other worthy and desirable charity that takes care of actors, as in the judgment of my executor he may deem desirable."

Other bequests were to relatives and friends.

MAJOR FIGHT ON NORMAL GRANARY LAWS EXPECTED

Sec. Wallace Plans to Appeal to Farmers Before Congress

Washington, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Administration farm leaders expect a major fight in the next congress over a proposal to replace the "ever normal granary" crop control law with domestic allotment and price-fixing regulations.

Declining farm prices and accumulating crop surpluses have stimulated agitation for revision of the 1938 farm act among cotton and wheat growers.

Secretary Wallace has indicated, however, he will carry his defense of the present law to the farmers before congress convenes.

The proposed domestic allotment program, which had strong support in the last congress, would eliminate the present acreage allotment, marketing control and benefit payment provisions.

Farmers would be free to produce as much as they desired, but could sell only a specified share, or allotment, on the domestic market.

Sales Prorated.

For example, if domestic needs were estimated at 650,000,000 bushels of wheat, that amount would be prorated among the growers. The buyer would be required to pay a price fixed by the secretary of agriculture for the allotted shares.

The domestic allotment bill in the 1938 congress provided for prices which would assure the grower cost of production. This could be changed to require "parity" prices, the goal of the existing law. Those prices would be about 15.9 cents a pound for cotton, 82 cents a bushel for corn and $1.13 for wheat. Farmers now are receiving an average of about 8.25 cents for cotton, 50 cents for corn and 55 cents for wheat.

The government would sell the surplus crops in foreign markets at whatever prices it could get. Thus the grower would be guaranteed the "parity" or cost of production price on crops consumed in this country and world prices on the surplus.

FARMERS URGED TO PROTECT ANIMALS FROM FLY

Chicago, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse & Mule Association, urged farmers today to protect horses and mules from mosquitoes and biting flies, to prevent spread of equine-encephalomyelitis, or sleeping sickness, which he said, is rapidly assuming epidemic proportions in north central states.

"At the moment the disease is more prevalent in Wisconsin than elsewhere," he said, "but is spreading to the south and east. There are sick horses in every Wisconsin county and scores are dying daily."

"The situation is serious in 20 northern Illinois counties and it is spreading into Indiana and Michigan. I have a report from Blue Earth county, Minn., which said between 500 and 600 horses have died in that county this year. The disease is also prevalent in North and South Dakota and Iowa."

Dinsmore explained that for several years the disease had been moving eastward at the rate of about 300 miles during the summer months.

Veterinarians have a number of methods of treating the disease, including a newly-developed vaccine and blood transfusions from animals that have recovered, provided they have the same type of blood.

Symptoms, Dinsmore explained, include dullness, drowsiness and inability to control legs when moving.

As precautions against the disease, Dinsmore suggested, keeping animals in screened stalls, and, when they are out of doors, spraying them with fly spray. Spray should be applied so it will not reach the skin, or under the harness, he added.

Hermit crabs are not hermits. They prefer the company of others of their kind, but, for protection, each lives in a separate deserted shell of some gastropod.

More than a million married people are living in a state of separation in England, according to estimates.

To Place Sun Dial on Court House Lawn as Memorial to G. A. R.

Announcement of the national convention of the organization and discussion of plans for placing a sun dial in the court house square interested members of Anna Kellogg Baker tent, No. 81, Daughters of Union Veterans, at an important meeting last evening in the G. A. R. hall.

Mrs. Lucy Eastman, the tent president, announced the convention, which is to be held Sept. 4-8 in Des Moines, Iowa. She also told the members of appointment of Mrs. Mina Hettinger, past president of the Dixon tent, to serve as an aide at the national meeting.

A committee was appointed to proceed with plans for purchasing the sun dial, which is to be a memorial to the Grand Army of the Republic. It is planned to place the ornamental dial on the west side of the court house beside the historic Lincoln Highway.

By unanimous agreement, it was voted to make a cash donation to the Big Buddy Boys' club, which is sponsored by Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion.

The next meeting of the tent will be held on Thursday afternoon, September 15.

The next regular meeting of the circle is scheduled for Sept. 19.

Miss Dorothy Hoffman also won a prize at the card tables.

College All-Stars Showing Good Form

Chicago, Aug. 26—(AP)—Col. Alvin Nugent (Boi McMillin) may be talking dolefully about his "pore li'l boys"—the collegiate All-Stars—but there are those who believe the coach is feeling pretty well satisfied.

The All-Stars apparently have two threats to match the Washington Redskins' ace, Sammy Baugh.

Byron (Whizzer) White, the University of Colorado halfback who'll have a Rhodes scholarship and play pro football too, has been passing and running like the star they said he was out in the Redskins, and Corby Davis, Indiana fullback, ripped the opposing line to bits yesterday in his first workout since a minor injury put him on the shelf a week ago.

Although the collegians will substitute "skull sessions" for their usual morning drill, the Redskins planned no brain work at Ballston, Va. They'll work out but once a day before entraining for Chicago Saturday.

POLITICAL IMMORALITY

In commenting upon the Idaho political situation in which Senator James P. Pope, New Deal Democrat, was defeated in the primaries for renomination by D. Worth Clark, President Roosevelt accused 10,000 to 15,000 Idaho voters of political immorality. He said there were that many Idaho Republican voters who entered the Democratic primary to vote against Pope and in favor of Clark.

This was an unkind reflection for Mr. Roosevelt to make upon the record of his old friend Senator Norris of Nebraska, who never has been a Republican, but spent his whole career running on the Republican ticket.

The elder LaFollette used to pose as a Republican for election purposes, but after the votes were cast he was not aligned with the party. The younger LaFollette, with whom President Roosevelt flirted until the new LaFollette party was formed, established himself as a Republican, but abandoned his party regularly.

There also was Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, a Republican on one day of the year and a nondescript politician the other 364 days.

"PLANNED" PRICES

With the passing of the fifth anniversary of the federal government's destruction of millions of little pigs and brood sows with intent to raise prices, market statisticians have made the following observations:

Average prices per hundredweight for hogs during the five years have been lower since the destruction than before.
Farmers have had fewer animals to sell.

Aggregate cash returns have been reduced, with market fluctuations wider.

Sales of American pork products abroad were lowest in history, while imports from other countries reached the greatest volume on record.

NOW THEY FACE THE FACTS

One of the boasts of the Social-Communist Premier Blum of France was that he established the 40-hour week in industry. When he faced a crisis he used to thunder in the famous French manner that he and his Socialist-Communist group had civilized industry, and on occasion he challenged his critics and opponents to abolish the 40-hour week.

In fact, Mr. Blum thundered and challenged so successfully that Premier Daladier, his successor, was afraid to attack the 40-hour week, and it began to appear that France had made a great step forward; that the 40-hour week was established as a new truth in industry and economics.

But at last the time came when even Daladier, in spite of the powerful Socialist-Communist opposition, saw something had to be done. As others have observed, Mr. Daladier found himself facing facts and not theories.

What happened under the 40-hour week was this:
Under the 40-hour week production fell off.

As production decreased goods became scarcer and prices, in conformity with laws of economics, began to rise.

As prices began to rise, the workers began to demand higher wages, the obvious result of producing less and thus increasing the prices of the things they had to buy.

Under the financial strain the French franc began to sag
and had to be devalued.

The financial attempt to make two francs grow where but one grew before proved only a temporary expedient, so the franc was again devalued.

Obviously this devaluation can not go on indefinitely
if the franc is to have any value at all, so Premier Daladier traced the situation back to the original evil, the attempt to establish a 40-hour week whether it was practical or not.

So, in effect, he asked revision of the government's labor policy.

Mr. Daladier, in explaining the situation, said:
There is no substitute for work.

As we understand it, Mr. Daladier is attempting to restore the higher living standard which French labor enjoyed before the supposedly permanent 40-hour week was brought forth. He is interpreted as having the theory that a sufficiency of goods, created by hard work, makes for a high living standard, and that a scarcity of goods, caused by reducing output and increasing the prices of the things that are artificially made scarce, will not raise the standard of living.
Another way of putting it might be that a high income will not improve one's standard of living if the price of goods is proportionately high. An income is measured by what it will purchase.

As we have stated, Mr. Daladier has been brought face to face with hard facts. His country not only faces a money crisis, but also it has to deal with a perennial international crisis caused by the possibility of German invasion. If the storms are to be weathered it will take the combined efforts of labor, capital and industry. Labor must be given a higher standard of living in order to avoid disaffection; capital must have faith in the country's economic and political stability,
and industry must have assurance as to the future.

FAIR AT OREGON THIS YEAR WILL BE 85th ANNUAL

Officers Have Added to Attractions for Coming Exhibitions

Programs for the 85th Ogle county Fair, Sept. 3-4-5, have been added to considerably for this year's showing. The race program is for purses which are quite a sum more than in recent years,
thus assuring good fields of fast horses. Two weeks in advance of the opening, some twenty horses have entered and by the closing date on Aug. 31, close to one hundred entries should be recorded.

The horse show has been divided into two programs. Saturday night, Sept. 3, with nine events,
consisting of classes for children,
3-gaited open, high school, roadsters to bike, pair draft horses
over 3000 lbs. in harness, 5-gaited pleasure, junior fine harness, 3-gaited pleasure limited to Lee, Ogle, Winnebago, Carroll and Stephenson counties and Hackney or Shetland pony in harness, lady to drive.

On the afternoon of Sept. 4, 14
classes will be shown in the program including children's classes, 5-gaited open, fine harness, 3-gaited pleasure, open to horses from Kane, Dupage, and DeKalb counties, hunters and jumpers combination saddle and harness, pair of roadsters to 4-wheel vehicle, pair Hackney or Shetlands to 4-wheel vehicle, pair 3 or 5 gaited, ladies' three gaited open, draft mare or gelding to halter.

Cattle Entries

Already some 50 head of show cattle have been entered, and around that number of swine, besides 16 heavy draft horses.

The free act program has been improved greatly over past years with the Flying Beckman troupe of fourteen people, doing three aerial acts, three dancing acts, one including 8 girls and a ten people tumbling act. Besides these a special attraction booked for Sept. 4 and 5 is the Hamiter Animal show, including an elephant act, 6 Arabian horses, 6 military polies, a football kicking trained mule, 6 dogs, a riding monkey, 2
high school horses and a mechanical device which demonstrates how circuit bareback riders are trained.
This is something out of the ordinary as volunteers from the audience are given the opportunity to try their skill at alighting feet down on a moving horse. This show carries its own ring bank, has the best wardrobe and is just completing a several weeks tour through Ohio. It has a three day date at a celebration downstate and jumps to Oregon for two days
at the Fair.

The concession space bids fair to be overcrowded this year, as all of the oldtimers on the Oregon grounds will be back, and many new ones have engaged space.

Eagle the Great

On the afternoon at the horse show, G. W. Ault of Kirkland will show his high school horse "Eagle the Great" classed as one of the best trained horses in the United States. "Eagle the Great" is a bay and white gelding, who does some remarkable feats and has been shown at most of the leading horse shows in the country.

The flower show this year should be the scene of a great many entries and much competition, as from inquiries received, it appears that everyone has flowers to exhibit. The show will be made this year in two classes, amateur and professional. The school exhibit which attracted so much attention last year will be repeated this year, with a large number of rural schools competing.

Sept. 3 is children's day and every grade school child in northern Illinois will be admitted free at the main gates. There will be rides, races, free attractions and exhibits to interest them.

Compulsory Two Weeks Vacation With Pay Urged

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26.—
(AP)—The Illinois state federation of labor began today to lay the groundwork of a campaign for compulsory two-week vacations with pay for all wage earners in the state.

President Reuben G. Soderstrom of the federation placed the proposal to the top of the legislative program to be discussed in the federation's annual convention opening Sept. 12 in Peoria.

While he said "improvements"
also were needed in Illinois' old age assistance, workmen's compensation and occupational disease laws, Soderstrom declared a law guaranteeing annual vacations with pay "is the next big improvement that must be brought quickly to the wage earners of this state."

"The growing need for annual vacations is beginning to be generally recognized," Soderstrom
added in a prepared statement.
"Only the most reactionary and backward industrial owners and manager is out of sympathy with
it. His attitude must change."

The subject should be laid before the next regular session of the legislature in 1939, Soderstrom continued.

"A law should be passed making these annual vacations something that the worker has a right to expect as a citizen just as he now is provided with one day of rest in seven by law."

Soderstrom also indicated the Peoria convention would be asked to give impetus to the federation's drive for a state labor relations act.

Three hundred local trade unions throughout the state have become affiliated with the state federation in the last year. Soderstrom said, forecasting a record registration of approximately 1,000 delegates to the convention.

Washington—Little Dave Dubinsky and his talented International Ladies Garment Workers will soon be back in the American Federation of Labor.

They haven't finally broken with the C. I. O., but the break is coming.

Notice of this was served by Dubinsky and a delegation of ILGWU leaders at a secret meeting with John L. Lewis. They informed him they were prepared to continue with the C. I. O. on condition it agreed to certain concessions to establish peace with the A. F. of L.

Lewis rejected the suggested terms as death blows to his organization, and in effect told Dubinsky he was welcome to jump the C. I. O. reservation at any time. Both sides parted friendly—but for good.

Dubinsky's meeting with Lewis followed a secret confab several days before with William Green and AFL chiefs. Throughout the fierce CIO-AFL warring the A. F.
of L. has carefully avoided taking any potshots at either Dubinsky or his union. A year ago, when the Federation expelled a group of the big unions that founded the C. I. O., the ILGWU was not on the list.

Dubinsky took a leading role in the abortive peace negotiations last fall. Later, he publicly blamed the C. I. O. for the failure to get together. Lewis made no reply, but privately let him know that Dubinsky was not running the C. I. O., and that anytime he and his union wanted to return to the A. F. of L. it would cause no tears in the CIO ca.p.

Since then the CIO group has been expecting the break. The bolt will cost them 250,000 members—though they assert that the ILGWU has been in arrears on its dues for many months.

Homey Henry

Here's a story Mrs. Wallace didn't want us to tell—until Henry got used to his new suit.
Now he cannot take it back and the story can be told.

Wallace has a fondness for old,
comfortable things, and Mrs.
Wallace has a hard time persuading him to wear new clothes. She may even order a new suit, but it hangs unused in the closet.

One day, early this summer,
she found a solution to her problem. She had the Negro butler, Edward Crockett, buy a suit closely resembling one of Henry's old ones in shade and texture.
She instructed Edward to hang it in a place where the Secretary of Agriculture would see it.

The trap worked; Henry put on the new suit. Then he looked at it closely. "Edward," he said,
"you've had my suit pressed,
haven't you?"

"Yes, sir," said Edward.
"Certainly did a good job," said
Wallace.

Edward said no more, Wallace wore the suit, and Mrs. Wallace was happy. But she cautioned Edward not to breathe a word about their ruse, lest Henry should discard the new suit and look for the old one.

Actually, however, it is conducted on a basis so haphazard that it is laughable to those who don't want it to succeed and may be tragic to those at the top whose political reputations are at stake.

Instead of being manipulated
by a cabal of arch conspirators,
real fact is that Secretary Ickes,

been in Alaska; Tom Corcoran, with the same nonchalance and happy-go-lucky inefficiency which characterizes a lot of other New

Speed King Orator

Congressman Davey Lewis, 69-year-old candidate against young
"Mildred" Tydings in the Maryland senatorial campaign, performed a remarkable feat of radio oratory recently.

Almost immediately after Tydings had delivered a 30-minute harangue answering Roosevelt's attack on him, Lewis went on the air in reply. Tydings had spent five days preparing his speech,
Lewis had only two hours.

He listened to the Tydings

broadcast, then dictated his own 30-minute reply. The stenographer had not finished typing it when Lewis went on the air, and the speech had to be handed to him sheet by sheet as he sat before the microphone.

He had not had time to proof-read or practise, but he put across his speech in a manner which got an equal news break with Tydings.

This News Story is Worth Fifty Dollars

Olney, Ill., Aug. 26.—(AP)— Johnny Weber says nobody has to believe this story, but it was worth $50 to him.

He said that while vacationing last week at Boyne City, Mich., he and a companion jumped into Lake Michigan to pull their outboard motorboat to shore. When he reached shore, his wallet and $50 were gone. They searched in the water until dark, but couldn't find it.

The next morning, Weber said,
he found the wallet floating near the shore nearly half a mile from the spot where they entered the water. The $50 was soaked, but intact.

BASEBALL PLUM WILL BE SERVED TO FANS SUNDAY

Three Local Teams Will Play in Doubleheader
At Reynolds Field

A tempting menu of baseball will be dished up to the local followers of the game here Sunday afternoon when a doubleheader is served at Reynolds field.

Starting at 1:30 the American Legion All-Stars will take on the Sterling Juniors. These two teams have a rivalry that compares with big league "hatred." Sterling defeated the local boys earlier in the season and the Juniors are out for revenge and to show the local fans what fine material has been developed under the sponsorship of the Legion. Junior Legion baseball has become very popular all over the nation and a number of major leaguers can look back and remember the days that they got their start under the wing of the Legion.

Second Game
In the second game of the twin bill the Panthers who have won ten straight, will tangle with the leaders of the Illinois State Baseball league—the Knacks of Dixon. The Panthers, who were for a number of years the only baseball team in Dixon, have a large following. This combined with the support which has been accorded the Knacks and the Legion boys all season, should make for another record-breaking crowd of baseball-loving fans.

In the last few years the Panthers have played all the teams in this part of the country and have won their share of the games. Francis Henry, Art and Bus Carlson and Roy Kuhn of the Knacks' family once played with the Panthers. The players are young, fast and really hustle. Their record of ten straight wins is the target at which the Knacks will be aiming—and with the Knacks leaders in their league, there should be a real display of baseball here Sunday.

There's the set-up: three local teams on the field for Sunday afternoon—and if that isn't a plum in any man's baseball pie, what is? No admission will be charged—what could be sweeter?

Bert Cummings said this morning that practice for the Knacks will be held tonight and "all players must be there."

Decatur Strengthens Hold on Second Place

Chicago, Aug. 26.—(AP)—A few days ago it appeared that the Decatur Combies might slip out of second place in the Three-Eye League standings, but today they boasted a three-game winning streak and remained two and a half games in front of Springfield.

The Combies took their third straight last night by beating Bloomington, 9 to 4. They piled up all their runs in three big innings, scoring four times in the seventh to ice the game.

Springfield made two scoring innings count to turn back the leading Evansville Bees, 5 to 3, although they were out, 7 to 5, by the Indiana club.

Waterloo and Moline split a double-header, the Hawks taking the first game, 6 to 2, and the Plows putting on rallies in the seventh and eighth frames of the second to win, 7 to 3.

Clinton hammered out a 7 to 1 victory over Cedar Rapids, nicking three pitchers for 12 hits.

The same teams were scheduled to play today.

WINS TOURNAMENT.

The Maytown team, composed largely of Black Farms players, won the Van Orin Invitational Softball tournament Wednesday night by defeating Ladd, 4 to 2. On Tuesday night Maytown defeated Van Orin by the same score to enter the finals. Beyers and Sweeney, both of Black Farms, composed the battery for both nights.

TENNIS WINDUP.

A handsome bronze trophy, an award of the Telegraph, is awaiting either George Covert or Dick Joslyn who will slap 'em across the net for the tennis championship of the city in matches to be played Sunday morning. This winds up the official tennis season although there isn't any snow on the courts yet and a lot of fast served balls and volleying will be continued until the cold snap.

FOR BRUSH-UP.

The Junior American Legion All-Stars will hold their weekly practice session tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. All the players are urged to attend this brushing-up in an effort to defeat Sterling on Sunday. The Juniors will play the neighborhood kids in the first game of a doubleheader at Reynolds field starting at 1:30 P. M. on Sunday. This will probably be the last game of the season.

VACATION ENDING.

The vacation in the city softball league, due to the activities of the county fair, have been held up this week but the wheels will be started again on Monday night when two teams will take two other teams for a ride. The set up for Monday's clam bake includes Medusa and Kellers in the first game and Black Farms and Fuls in the nightcap. There hasn't been much activity in the softball field this week—not even many off schedule games.

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT.

Beautiful Kersten Memorial Athletic field at Ashton will be the scene of an inter-city softball tournament for five nights starting August 29. Teams will be entered from Amboy, Walnut, Oregon, Rochelle, Dixon, Ashton, Shabbona and Sterling. There will be two games each night, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Three cash prizes will be awarded to the winners. Bert Cummings will be one of the umpires. The Del Monte team of Rochelle, one of the strongest softball teams in this vicinity will be seen on the first night.

EARLY RETURNS.

Early reports on the women's marathon golf tournament at the Dixon Country club this morning revealed that eight brave souls started play at seven o'clock full of vim and eager to show the men a thing or three as they forge their way around the course. Reports from the clubhouse indicated that the women were not playing in foursomes, but started in pairs, threes and in solos. The information bureau reported those who started were: Mrs. Floyd Chapman, Mrs. George Beier, Mrs. Robert Brewster, Miss Catherine Buchner, Mrs. Carl Buchner, Mrs. Harold Coss, Miss Elsie Neff, and Miss Mary Katherine Rorer. More about this later.

A WALK-AWAY.

We looked in on the fourth inning of the Rochelle-West Brooklyn game at the Rochelle Farmers' picnic yesterday afternoon, but didn't stay long. The score was 15 to 2 when we dropped in and this morning we heard the game was called in the fifth or sixth because of rain when the score was 19 to 2. Young and Walter composed the battery for West Brooklyn. Knauer, the star pitcher, took first base sack. Myrth and Shires Miller, the latter of Dixon, did the hurrying for Rochelle and Cothorn was behind the mask. John Powers who plays first base for Walton, was on the initial sack yesterday for Rochelle and Art Carlson of Dixon was in right field.

WILSON, STENGEL SMART TRADERS OF BALL PLAYERS

They Have Pulled the Biggest Rabbits Out
Of the Hat

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
When all the returns are in from this year's business, you're going to find that your old pals, Jimmy Wilson and Casey Stengel, have pulled the biggest rabbits out of the hat again.

Reading from left to right, you have Jimmy and his sidekick, Gerry Nugent, pulling their yearly fast one on the open trading market, and Casey riding herd on a bunch of Bees who may yet land in the first division, although they haven't any more kick than a bottle of sarsaparilla.

Wilson and Nugent have been the two smartest buyers and sellers of ivory for the past five years or so. Whatever they get rid of promptly falls apart in new surroundings (remember Chuck Klein?), and whatever they buy up for next to nothing just as promptly turns to gold.

Latest Example

In the latest example of their hoss-trading, Wilson came up a few weeks ago with Max Butcher, a big fellow out of Man (W. Va.), who had been fiddling around with the Dodgers and getting nowhere for some three years. The Phils sent chunky Lefty Lamaster to Brooklyn for him.

Max reported to Wilson that his previous managers had tried to change his pitching and tell him this and that until he didn't know for sure which end was up. "Why, Max, if that's the case, you just go ahead and throw 'em the way you want to," Jimmy told him.

So Max did, and in less than two weeks he's gone the route four times, whipped the Giants neatly twice, lost a tough shutout to Boston, and yesterday he stopped the Pirates, 2-1, with seven hits in one end of a doubleheader, both sides of which the Phils took from the league-leaders. In the other half, Wild Bill Hallahan turned in with his first twin of the year, a five-hitter, for another 2-1 decision, thereby slicing the Bucs' first-place margin in the National League race to 4 1/2 games.

Stengel's Tricks

Getting along to Stengel, you recall that when he succeeded Miracle Man Will McKechnie at Boston this season everyone predicted he'd be lucky to wind up somewhere between sixth place and Siam. But Casey, whose clownish ways cover a multitude of neat baseball tricks, has those still stinging Bees with a 3 1/2 game hold on fifth place right this minute, and from the way they tore into Cincinnati's rude Reds in both ends of a twin bill yesterday, 6-4 (in 12 innings) and 3-2, it would appear they have serious designs on a money spot.

The Reds' double defeat, coupled with the Cubs' twin win over the Dodgers, 3-2 and 5-4, boosted the Cubs into a third place tie with Cincinnati. The second-place Giants outlasted the Cardinals for an 8-7 edge in 11 frames to pick up a game-and-a-half on the Pirates, getting the deciding run without a hit, on a walk, error and fly.

Over in the American League, the Yankees rolled merrily along to a twin win over the Indians, making 16 hits good for 20 runs to score at 5-2 and 15-3. The Red Sox stayed 12 games back in second place by whipping the White Sox twice, Jack Wilson taking the opener, 1-0, and Joe Heving the nightcap, 9-5.

The Senators tightened their hold on fourth place with an 8-2 margin over Detroit, and the Athletics hung onto seventh place by splitting with the Browns, Buck Newsom going 13 frames to win the opener, 8-5, and Buck Ross' five-hitter taking the afterpiece, 4-1.

If they are not thrown off gear by the weather man, the Yankees will equal the record for consecutive double bills (six) when they reel off tomorrow's bargain day with the Indians. . . . When Sammy Bash flew into Washington to report to the football Redskins, his plane arrived just before Doug Corrigan. . . . Sammy was mobbed by admiring fans who thought he was the flyer. . . . Baseball managers tell you that bad legs are a much more serious thing to pennant hopes than sore arms, the current epidemic notwithstanding. . . . STORY OF EARLY BASEBALL IN LEE COUNTY IS TOLD

Paw Paw Man Continues
Special Articles for
The Telegraph

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles on the history of baseball in Lee County prepared by that avid fan, Arthur Wells of Paw Paw. Mr. Wells still follows the game with an interest as keen as that of bygone days and was heard shouting wildly at the West Brooklyn vs. Walton game last Sunday.

BY ARTHUR WELLS

In the year 1889 was the cold Decoration Day. We played at Sterling that day and it spit snow during the game. Our wives sat in the grand stand with our overcoats on. But, what a game. We were leading them 3 to 2 in the eighth. They had two on and there were two out when the batter got hold of a fast ball and drove a low line drive to right center. O. W. Briggs was our center fielder and he caught that ball shoe top high going on a dead run, one of the greatest catches I ever saw and we won the game 3 to 2. Sterling had a colored lad at short stop by the name of Tolliver and he was awful good and in the Lee County Times writup of the game, it gave a picture of Tolliver with flies buzzing around and said: "there are no flies on Tolliver although they hovered near."

In the years 1887-1889 we played some of the best semi-pro teams in Illinois. The Lake Views, the Hub, the Jenny & Graham Gun club, the Chicago Union Giants, (Peters colored team), and we beat them all. In the fall of 1888 we played Wenona, Ill., and they were plenty tough. We broke even on a two game series which was good enough. When we had to vacate the north side ground we went to the east side and played inside the old race track and it being timber land, was lightning fast.

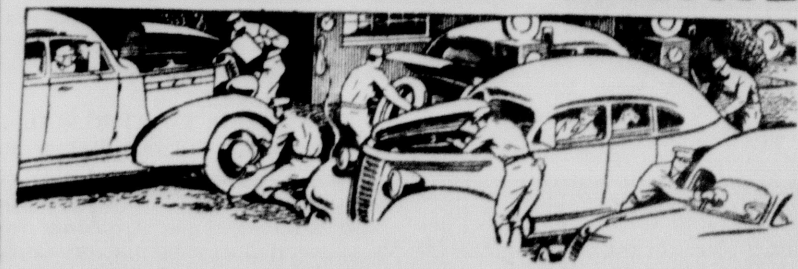

"Dutch" Henry hit a ball in the 1905 game against Dixon that struck the ground between short and second, hit once more in the outfield and went over the race track for a home run. It was the last of the tenth inning and won the game by a score of 1 to 0.

Signed With Monmouth

Well, Jim Southard went to Minneapolis in 1900 and I signed with Monmouth. It was the year the Three-I league was born. Jim broke his ankle and his big league time was over, but we were lucky to secure Frank Griffith of Watterman, Ill., to help George Howlett in the pitching box. In 1902 the year it was really wet, we had Mendota here for the Fourth of July celebration and it was so wet we played the game in Ben Wheeler's pasture, back of the Kimmann home. O. W. Briggs played left field in water shoe-top high. Mendota had the Illinois college battery of the late George Huff and Lewis and we beat them in a fine game, 3 to 2.

During the years in the early 1900's I could always depend on getting from one to three players from our high school. There was the three Douglass boys, every one a great outfielder, Roy, Tom and Ike, all of them almost big league stuff, but of them all, "Dutch" Henry was in a class by himself. Balls that fall for hits nowadays were just play for "Dutch." At the crack of the bat

PATTY BERG IS MAKING A ONE- GAL GOLF SHOW

Chicago, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Patty Berg, Minneapolis youngster who took up golf at 14 to show up her older brother, is making a one-gal show of 1938 tournaments for feminine shooters.

Victorious in eight out of eleven tournaments this year, Miss Berg, at the age of 20, today was within reach of the women's western championship, which she regards, at the moment, the important triumph of her life. Still, there's the women's national championship to be decided here next month and the Minneapolis miss is casting longing eyes at that title, too.

The freckled-face red head, with a sensational sub-par game behind her, engages Shirley Ann Johnson, Chicago, in the 18 hole semi-finals today, with Mrs. Burt Weil, Cincinnati, opposing Edith Estabrooks, Dubuque, Ia., in the other match. The winners meet in a 36 hole championship final tomorrow, playing 18 holes both morning and afternoon.

Miss Johnson was a surprise winner over the seasoned campaigner, Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City, a three time winner of the championship, in the quarter finals yesterday.

The bespectacled Miss Estabrooks, former Western junior titleholder, advanced by defeating Mrs. Dan Chandler, Dallas, Texas, 5 and 4, while Mrs. Weil, thrice winner of the Ohio State championship and runnerup in the western a year ago, vanquished Ella-mae Williams, Chicago, 2 up.

"Take it from me," says Maxie,
"STAG BEER
is a lifesaver
on a picnic!"

"Would you believe it! But farmer Fieldman sure was after me just before this picture was taken! Otto and I were having a picnic on his farm and I was having fun chasing his chickens. That made farmer Fieldman mad . . . and he gave me a lecture that made my tail curl! But Otto smoothed him down with a smooth, cooling bottle of Stag Beer. Now we're all friends—and maybe he'll let me chase his chickens some more. He looks that cheerful!"

Put two bottles of Stag in the basket for each person on the picnic. Open it at eating time—and you've got a treat the gang will remember.

Ordinary "sweet" beers (not dry, like Stag) just can't refresh you the way this famous old lager does. Stag is the beer that's made from a generations-old formula—a true, mild, lighter beer that has been slow-brewed from pure grains. It's uniformly sparkling, uniformly cooling and satisfying.

But you don't have to wait for a picnic to try Stag! Call your nearby Stag dealer today, and have him send over a case!

DEMOCRATS SEE POSSIBILITY OF MEETING DEFEAT

Leaders Acknowledge Serious Situations in Several States

Washington, Aug. 26—(AP)—A survey of political prospects as viewed by both Republican and Democratic leaders indicated today this fall's big inter-party battles will be fought in the mid-west and middle Atlantic states.

The extent and nature of the Republican campaign was up for discussion today in a conference at Indianapolis of party officials and candidates from a dozen central states. This will be followed tomorrow by a "cornfield" rally at Capehart Farms, near Washington, Ind.

Spokesmen here emphasized the location of the gathering—the first such Republican function of the year—as demonstrating the importance which party leaders attach to their midwest campaign.

Democrats will begin their campaign Saturday in a key eastern state—Pennsylvania. There will be a rally at Hershey for the ticket headed by Governor George Earle as senatorial nominee and Charles Alvin Jones as nominee for governor.

The oratory in more than a score of states will not start until late September, because primaries are yet to be held.

Maine's Poll Near
In Maine, however, the general election campaign—carried on quietly but enthusiastically for several weeks—is drawing to a close. Its voters will ballot for state officials and three members of the house September 12.

At present both Maine senators, whose terms do not expire this year, and all three representatives are Republican. Victor Harding, secretary of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, predicted the Democrats would pick up at least one seat in the house.

On the Republican side confidence in holding firm in Maine was overshadowed by predictions of substantial Republican inroads into the huge Democratic majority in the house. Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, declared the party would win 70 seats from the Democrats.

Indications were that Republican leaders expect to take most of these in the midwest and in eastern states. Democratic leaders apparently also look for the tough fights in those places. One prominent Democrat summed up the situation this way:

"I don't believe we will have any trouble in the south or border states or west of Kansas. Iowa and Michigan are battlegrounds. I think we will fare all right in upstate New York, but New York City will furnish a fight from beginning to end. And so will Ohio and Pennsylvania."

CALIFORNIA CAMPAIGN.

San Francisco, Aug. 26—(AP)—More than 800 candidates for national state and local offices intensified their scramble for votes today as California's bitter primary campaign, involving the administration choice for senator, neared an election day climax.

Next Tuesday the state's 3,454,058 registered voters, 58.8 per cent of them declared Democrats, will have opportunity to select candidates for United States senator, representatives, governor and other state and local officers.

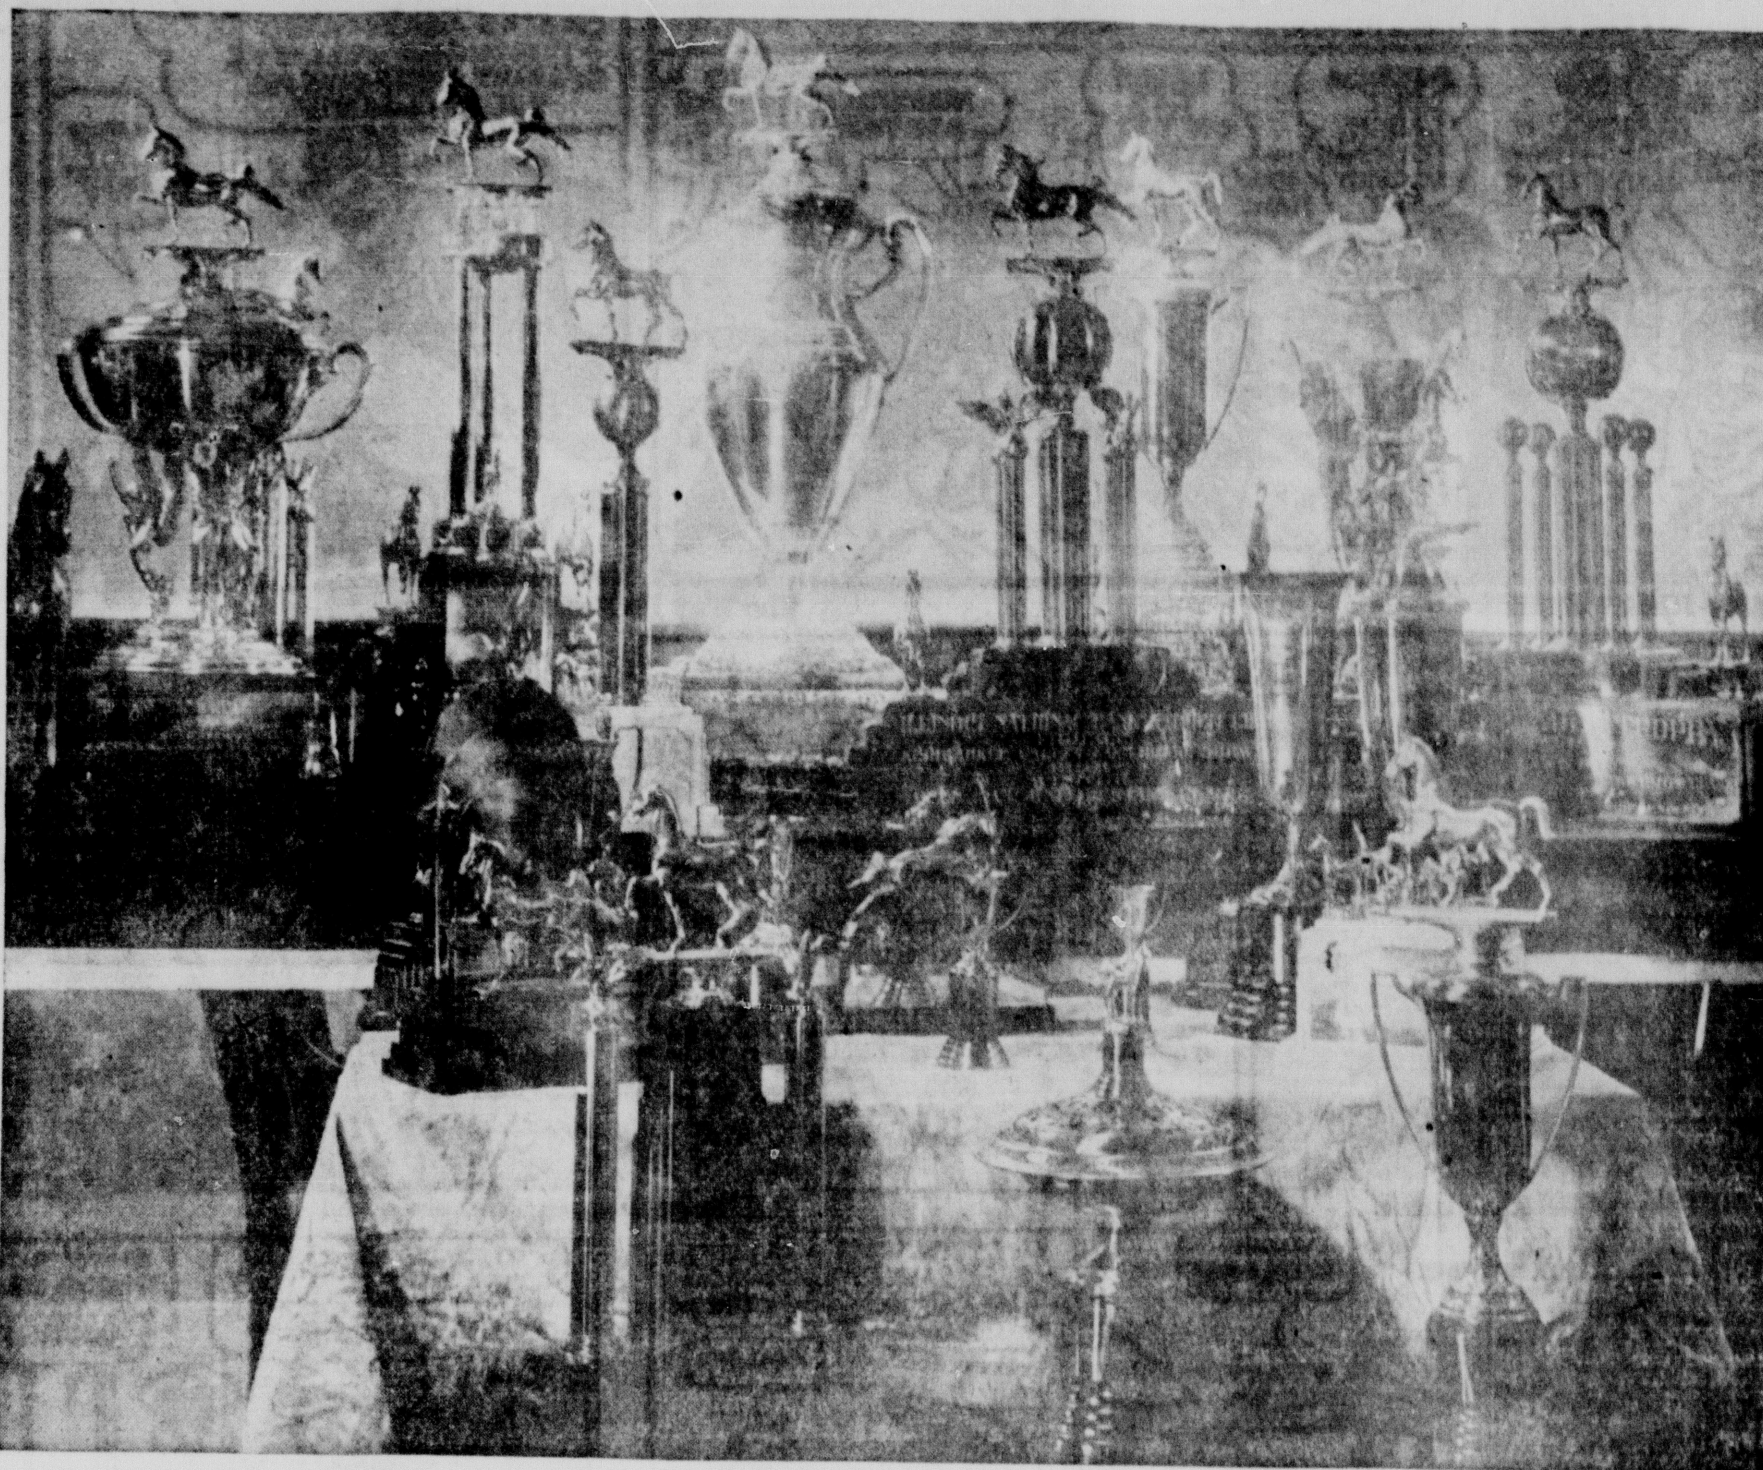

The senatorial race involving the immediate fate of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, who has President Roosevelt's blessing, and the campaign for governor, have highlighted a campaign of bitter words and tangled issues.

McAdoo, fighting for re-nomination among a field of six, today offered a $1,000 reward for "authentic evidence about the origin of fabrication" of a card purporting to show he was once a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

The card was publicly displayed by Pierson Hall, supporter of Sheridan Downey, a McAdoo opponent. Hall, former United States District Attorney at Los Angeles, blamed McAdoo because he was not reappointed a year ago.

Trophies to Be Awarded to Winners in Northern Illinois Horse Show

Picture represents a part of the trophies to be given by the Northern Illinois Horse Show Association at the concluding show of the season, which is to be held at Kirkland on September 25, and will no doubt be the outstanding show of the season, under sponsorship of George W. Ault, long acknowledged as one of the leading horsemen of the state.

In order to compete for these trophies, which are awarded besides the cash premiums and ribbons at each of the shows, it is necessary that the various entries appear at the majority of shows staged under direction of the Association. A certain number of points are given with each winning, and the sum total of points throughout the entire circuit will be used in determining trophy awards.

These trophies represent a value of around $1,000 and competition for them has been keen over the circuit. The various shows already staged by the Association are: May 22, Helendale Farm, Virgil; June 5, Maple Lane Saddle Club, Oswego; June 14, DeKalb, June 18-19, Hinsdale;

June 26, St. Charles; July 4, Morris; Aug. 21, Pecatonica.

Shows yet to be held are: Aug. 26-28, Dixon; Sept. 2, Morrison; Sept. -4, Oregon; Sept. 11, Dunham Woods, Wayne; Sept. 18, Geneva and Sept. 25, Kirkland.

The trophies have been donated by the following:
J. M. Avey trophy to the stable winning the most points in the entire circuit; G. W. Ault's trophy to the five gaited horse winning most points, Ogle Co. Fair & Horse Show Trophy to the three gaited horse winning the most points, Winnebago County Fair & Horse Show trophy to the horse winning the most points in the fine harness class, Northern Illinois Horse Association trophy to the winner of the most points in the open children's class under 17 years of age. The Sycamore trophy has not as yet been placed.

An addition to the classes at the Oregon Horse Show on Sept. 3-4 is a four horse draft team to harness, two teams having signified their intention of entering. Mr. Floyd Conger, well known horse breeder of Seward, Ill., has an outstanding 4-horse draft team and James Dolan Son of Winnebago, also have one. Both plan to show them at Oregon, which will be good news to admirers of fine draft horses.

Last year's horse show at Oregon outlasted anything ever before attempted in its line on the local fair grounds and it is the plan to outdo this showing on Sept. 3-4. If you enjoy seeing good horses perform, do not miss the Oregon horse shows, Sept. 3, 8 P. M., Sept. 4, one P. M.

Before and after the horse shows there will be a program of free acts, but not during the time the various classes are being shown.

Hale and hearty but much heavier than when we last saw him four years ago, John Quinn, former director of the destinies of Cottage A-I visited friends at the hospital Wednesday. John had little to say when we talked to him except to commend to the attention of the unmarried feminine personnel the person of his former buddy Richard "Cardinal" Hoban Grand Chancellor and Arch Protector of Ancient and Independent order of Pleonasts.

Our personal nomination for membership in the hospital society of humorists, the unknown person or persons who conceived and executed the "fly catcher" displayed in front of cottage A-4 last evening.

Erastus Dimmick now on vacation is being relieved on Cottage C-1 by Roy "Senator" Jones.

To past president Tony Guzzardo has been delegated the task of securing and training the mule that will be an important feature of the initiation of candidate Herub into full membership of the mule stable.

We have listened to many comments entitled "My Brother's Keeper" appearing in a recent issue of a magazine of national circulation. The article purports to be an expose of conditions existing in an unnamed mental hospital. We do not know the location of the institution discussed but we do know from an observation of five years that the conditions complained of do not now and never could have existed at this hospital.

He believes that they would soon grow tired of each other, lose freshness and newness and bring about the familiarity that breeds contempt. They would exaggerate each other's defects and cease to appreciate each other's good points. His conclusion is that a certain amount of "social distance" and mental, emotional and spiritual differences are necessary to a permanent ideal friendship.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Absolutely. That always stimulating writer, Abbe Dimmet, relates in a recent essay his experience of crossing the Atlantic, scarcely speaking to a soul. He thinks that solitude can be achieved in the midst of crowds about as easily as in the desert and sometimes it is even more stimulating. No one can lay claim to a well-rounded personality who has not developed sufficient poise to find himself at times the very best fellow in the world with whom to have a good time.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Well, I've never been a young woman starting in business, but I rather believe a woman executive would be more likely than a man to put the beginning girl "on the ropes," tell her of her possible pitfalls and give her hints as to which was her best foot to put forward. The boss herself, started as a green girl once and I think would have more of a fellow feeling for the girl beginner than would a man. Ever if she scolded her I think usually it would be for the girl's good and not to show her own superiority. Copyright, 1938, John F. Dille Co.
